

PTFGND November 2021 News & Action Alert

What to do now and next to win Green New Deals

Dear Green New Deal leader,

What can we do now and next fully fund a just transition to clean energy, green jobs and a low-carbon, high care economy?

Now, we need to keep the heat on our elected representatives and add direct action to change corporate financial policies. So, join us for a youth-led Fossil Free March and Actions at local banks & city hall. And keep writing and calling our President and Congress. Next, we need to investigate the role of the Federal Reserve and private equity firms to stop the climate crisis.

Please join our next Coalition meeting, Tues. Nov. 16th at noon to help us plan our next actions. Click here for details and Zoom link. (website)

Read on, take some actions now, and join us to expand to win more soon.

1. March and Act for a Fossil Free Future, Friday, Oct. 29th 11: 00 am

Join youth climate organizers & adult allies are taking to the streets to demand climate action from the largest polluters in our city. Starting at Waterfront Park, we'll march to JPMorgan Chase's PNW HQ to demand they stop funding fossil fuels., take action at Liberty Mutual's regional HQ to call out their insurance of Trans Mountain and other toxic fossil fuel projects., take action at Seattle City Hall to demand that they pass the Solidarity Budget and stop building new homes with fossil fuel heating <https://www.facebook.com/events/292793345697596>

2. Write & call our U.S. Reps, Senators Murray and Cantwell: Keep fighting for our Green New Deal. (Link to website)

3. Send a message to our President Biden: Choose people over fossil fuels

President Biden promised to address the climate emergency and confront a legacy of environmental injustice, but so far, he has allowed the fossil fuel industry to drive climate change, poison communities, and violate Indigenous rights. Tell him:

President Biden, before the COP26 United Nations climate summit, if you commit to being a climate leader, stop supporting fossil fuels. Stand with frontline communities, protect future generations, stop approving fossil fuel projects, and declare a climate emergency now.
